Almost all the ways we know of designing better services depend on data collaboration.

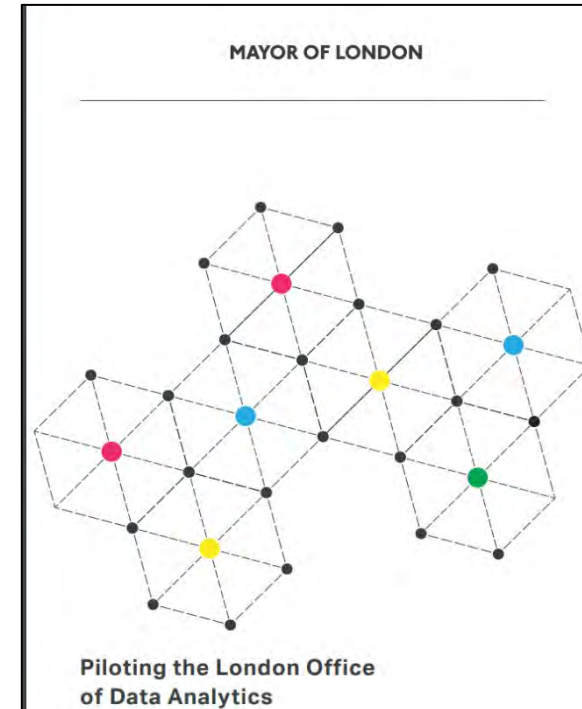

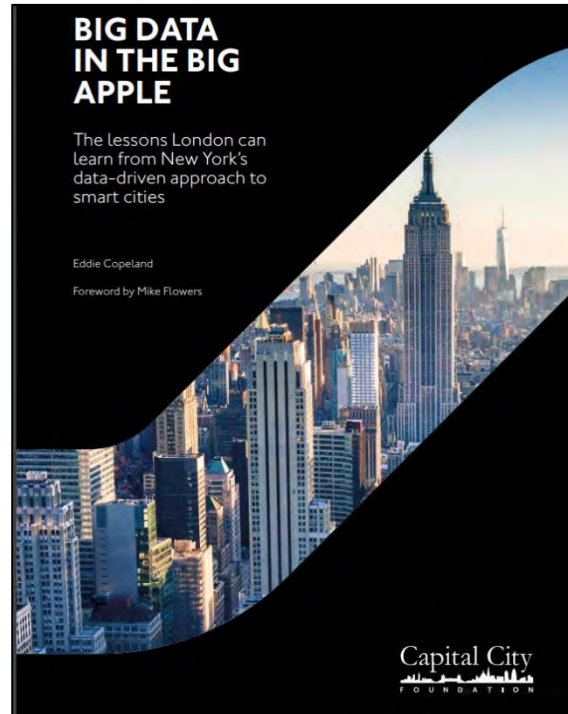

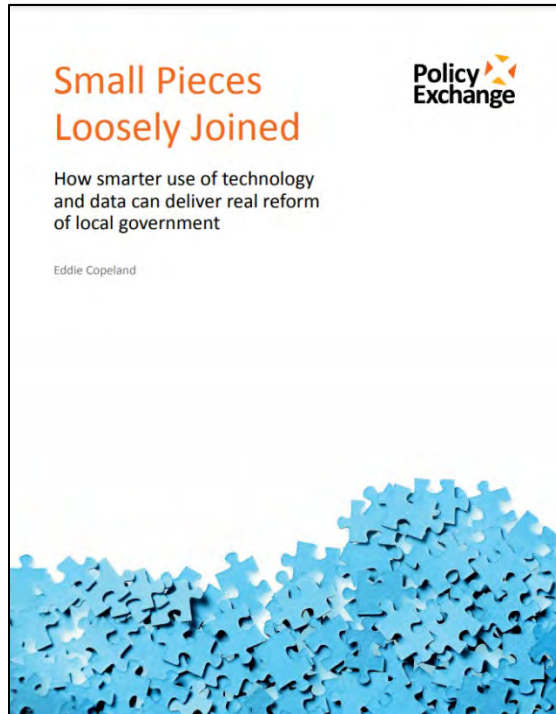

Design better shared services

Target areas / individuals of greatest need

Intelligently coordinate actions of different teams

Predict and prevent

Incentivise innovation by others

Recommendations for Data Ethics Capabilities

Councils need to be able to collect, share, analyse and innovate with data in a way that their residents expect of them. To help guide them in the development of their data ethics capabilities, LOTI has developed 16 recommendations.

London Data Ethics Service

The London Data Ethics Service has been established by LOTI as part of our aim to help boroughs identify and navigate the ethical issues within their current data projects, and improve their capability to manage these issues themselves in the ...

Data Ethics Case Study Library

LOTI have collected a range of case studies from different government organizations, both local, national and international, detailing different approaches to data ethics.

How to Establish A Data Ethics Governance Board
